to the authorities.

FREE DAILY TRIANS.

RYERSON GOING EAST from Louisville, may take the U. S. and Henderson road to Cincinnati, and the railroad to connect with this line at Lexington or Louisville by the Jeffersonville Railroad direct, time to connect with either the 6 A. M., 10 A. M. train of the Little Miami Railroad for Cincinnati there, or the Central Ohio Railroad west and Zanesville for Bell Air, on the Ohio.

From Baltimore, four miles beyond White-oak, or Newbold, four miles beyond White-oak, the passenger cars of the Baltimore and Annapolis Railroad, which leave three times daily (8:30 A. M.; 10 P. M. for Baltimore, and Philadelphia and New York, make close connections to all points, East and South.

The Maryland Central, a branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad, branches off from the Pennsylvania Railroad, and runs through the beautiful scenery of the country, and is a most comfortable and convenient mode of travel.

The Express Train of this route takes the shortest route to Baltimore in but 2 1/2 hours, and to Philadelphia in but 2 1/2 hours.

Passenger checked through from Cincinnati to Baltimore, and to Philadelphia and New York.

ROUGH TICKETS—Apply on board the steamers, which leave Louisville every day, or at the office of the Jeffersonville Railway of the Jeffersonville, Ohio and Mississippi and Miami Roads, or in Cincinnati, at the office of the Eastern Express Co.

TS—With the largest equipment of any railroad in the United States, the company is prepared to transport any type of cargo in the most efficient manner possible. The equipment is carried with care and inspection, and the service is of the highest class in the industry. The road has direct connections with all major lines and in the United States, with the Montreal to Philadelphia and New York to Baltimore and Washington, D.C. lines.

Company's Lines, by Canal and Sea to New Orleans; steamers to Norfolk, Charleston, Savannah. For particulars, see freight tariffs, copies
